

Contributors

F. NIYI AKINNASO, Language Behavior Research Laboratory, University of California, Berkeley 94720, has published in Names before, March 1981. LEONARD R. N. ASHLEY is the most active of all American Name Society members in publishing, appearing as a speaker or reader on programs, and promoting the Society in the mass media. P. JOAN COSGRAVE has been the perfect correspondent for many years and has contributed items to the Bulletin and to the archives; her address, 1201 J. Street, Lincoln, NE 68508. RENÉ COULET DU GARD's latest book is Handbook of American Counties, Parishes and Independent Cities, published in collaboration with his daughter, Dominique C. Western; his address, Department of Languages and Literature, University of Delaware, Newark, DE 19711. IRENE G. DASH is Professor of English, Hunter College, 695 Park Avenue, New York, NY 10021; she recently published a study of women in Shakespeare, published by Columbia University Press. SUMNER FERRIS, who teaches at California State College, California, PA 15419, has published a number of articles and reviews, chiefly on Chaucer, a recent one of which is "The Mariology of the Prioress's Tale," in American Benedictine Review (1981). JILL GRANT teaches at the Nova Scotia College of Art and Design, 5163 Duke St., Halifax, NS, her speciality being the social aspects and implications of environmental planning. AKIKATSU KAGAMI, 1-4-4-104, Tsushima Naka, Okayama Shi, 700 Japan, is the leading onomastician in his country. BERNICE A. KAPLAN, Professor of Anthropology, Wayne State University, co-editor of Central Issues in Anthropology and secretary of the American Ethnological Society, is studying the response of Asian immigrants to the health care system in England. GABRIEL W. LASKER, Professor Emeritus of Anatomy, Wayne State University, is president of the Human Biology Council and editor-in-chief of Human Biology, a quarterly journal of research. MARY R. MILLER, Department of English, University of Maryland, has written extensively on place names. P. E. RAPER directs the South African Centre of Onomastic Sciences and is the leading onomastician in South Africa. LAURENCE E. SEITS, Waubensee Community College, Sugar Grove, IL 60554, directs the North Central Names Institute and is a delightful host. JOHN SHAW-CROSS, University of Kentucky, is known as an outstanding Milton scholar, but is also well known as a commentator on names by those who have attended the Conference on Literary Onomastics over the years. RICHARD A. WALASEK teaches geography at the University of Wisconsin-Parkside, Kenosha, WI 53141; an economic geographer, he has research interests in electricity production and consumption, including the demand for electricity, utility service area boundaries, and spatial variations in electricity prices. MARTIN ZELENIETZ is an underemployed anthropologist who recently edited, with Shirley Lindenbaum, a volume on sorcery and social change in Melanesia.