
Contributors

Leonard R. N. Ashley, English, Brooklyn College of the City University of New York, Brooklyn, NY 11210, has served two terms as president of the American Name Society (1979 and 1987). In addition to extensive onomastic contributions he has written on popular culture in the Elizabethan period, English drama, superstition and magic, and witchcraft. His latest book, What's in a Name?, a popular survey of onomastics, will be out in October.

Lawrence M. Baldwin, Computer Science, Wellesley College, Wellesley, MA 02181, was trained as a child psychologist. He has carried out cross-cultural research on kinship names and has recently focused on street name patterns. He is preparing a book, Street Names, USA, in collaboration with Michel Grimaud.

Roberta C. Cheney, P. O. Box 554, Cameron, MT 59720, is a Montana native and a 1932 graduate of the University of Montana. A past national president of the Western Writers of America, her writing is primarily non-fiction. Among her eight books on various aspects of regional history is Names on the Face of Montana, now in its fifth printing. Her latest book, A History of the Episcopal Church in Montana, will be out soon.

Thomas J. Gasque, English, University of South Dakota, Vermillion, SD 57069, is the editor of Names. The present article stems partly from his opportunity to study historical maps, in the summer of 1982, as a fellow at the Center for the History of Cartography at the Newberry Library. In 1988-89 he was a Fulbright scholar at the University of Oldenburg in West Germany.

Michel Grimaud, French, Wellesley College, Wellesley, MA 02181, is editor of the Victor Hugo journal in Paris and co-editor of Empirical Study of the Arts. He has published in French and English on literary theory, nineteenth century French authors, and on issues in interdisciplinary research and methods. His most recent publications have been on forms of reference and address in conversation and narrative. He is collaborating with Lawrence Baldwin on the street names of the United States.

Kelsie B. Harder, English, State University of New York College, Potsdam, NY 13676, is a past president of the American Name Society (1982) and a member since 1954. He was executive secretary for most of the years between 1960 and 1979 and was editor of Names in 1967-68 and 1982-87. His onomastic contributions include Illustrated Dictionary of Place Names, United States and Canada, 1976.

Edwin D. Lawson, Psychology, State University of New York College, Fredonia, NY 14063, a member of the Board of Editors of Names, has recently retired from teaching. His current projects include updating his 1987 Personal Names and Naming: An Annotated Bibliography and a study of the psychology of first names.

200 Contributors

Celia Millward, English and Linguistics, Boston University, Boston, MA 02215, is a member of the Board of Editors of Names and has written extensively on a variety of onomastic topics. In 1989-90 she will be in Scotland as a Visiting Research Fellow at the University of Edinburgh Institute for Advanced Studies in the Humanities.

Alan Rayburn, 5 Solva Drive, Nepean, Ontario K2H 5R4, Canada, is a past president of the American Name Society (1985) and former executive secretary (until 1987) of the Canadian Permanent Committee on Geographical Names. He has written extensively on Canadian toponymy and has a regular column on placenames in Canadian Geographic. He is now a consultant in history, geography, toponymy, and genealogy.

Adrian Room, 173 The Causeway, Petersfield, Hampshire, GU31 4LN, England, has written a number of books on the origins of words and names. His recent Dictionary of World Place-Names Derived from British Names includes the origins of many U.S. and Canadian names, among others. Other onomastic areas covered by his books included pseudonyms, classical personal names, coin names, and astronomical names.

Grant Smith, English, Coordinator of Humanities, Eastern Washington University, MS-25, Cheney, WA 99004, is the guest editor of this four-state centennial issue. The study he has included here will be pursued in a broader statistical analysis of Indian names in British Columbia to appear in a forthcoming issue of Onomastica Canadiana. He is also preparing the GNIS Phase II project for the State of Washington.

John Van Balen, I. D. Weeks Library, University of South Dakota, Vermillion, SD 57069, is head of Public Services and map librarian. In the summer of 1981 he was a fellow at the Center for the Study of Cartography at the Newberry Library. His Index to Maps in Earth Science Publications, 1963-1983 (Greenwood Press) appeared in 1985.