

---

Contributors

---

Leonard R.N. Ashley, English, Brooklyn College of the City University of New York, Brooklyn, NY 11210, has made extensive contributions to the study of names. His recent book, What's in a Name, is reviewed in this issue.

Jack Autrey Dabbs, 2806 Cherry Lane, Austin, Texas 78703, Professor Emeritus at Texas A&M University, is a past president of the American Name Society (1962). His onomastic work has concentrated on Spain and Latin America. Since retirement in 1979 he has been working on a detailed description of the archives of the Mexican general and diplomat Vicente Riva Palacio (1832-1896).

Robert F. Fleissner, Associate Professor of English (Department of English, Theatre, and Communication), Central State University, Wilberforce, OH 45384, has recently published two books relating to Eliot and onomastics. The first, Ascending the Prufrockian Stair, opens with a chapter originally published in this journal. The second, A Rose by Another Name (West Cornwall, CT: Locust Hill Press, 1989), is a survey of literary flora from Shakespeare to Eco, with a chapter on Eliot's rose symbolism.

Erik V. Gunnemark, Södra Vägen 30, S-412 54 Gothenburg, Sweden, is the author, with Donald Kenrick, of A Geolinguistic Handbook, which is due to appear in a new edition this year. He is "president and secretary" of Amici Linguarum, an international geolinguistics society.

Kelsie B. Harder, Distinguished Professor of English, SUNY College at Potsdam, NY 13676, has been associated with the American Name Society in some capacity since 1954. With this issue he becomes the Book Review Editor.

Anne H. Lambert, 4714 N.W. 57th Drive, Gainesville, FL 32506, is originally from Chicago. She holds an M.A. in Romance Languages from the University of North Carolina and is now back in school as a graduate student in linguistics at the University of Florida.

W. F. H. Nicolaisen, Distinguished Professor of English and Folklore, State University of New York at Binghamton, NY 13901, is a former president of the American Name Society and a member of the

164 Contributors

Executive Committee of the International Committee of Onomastic Sciences. He has published extensively on onomastic matters, especially Scottish placenames.

Margaret S. Powell, Documents/Reference Librarian, Andrews Library, The College of Wooster, Wooster OH 44691, is coauthor of the third edition of The Bibliography of Place-Name Literature, United States and Canada and supplements to the second edition. She has also published in the fields of government documents, freedom of information, and local history.

Stephen D. Powell, Department of English, Indiana University, Bloomington, IN 47405, is completing his M.A. in English literature and will continue his graduate studies at the University of Toronto (Department of English, 7 King's College Circle, Toronto, Ontario M5S 1A1) in the fall.

Ira Rosenwaike, Graduate School of Social Work, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, PA 19104, is a demographer whose recent publications have focused on ethnic and religious groups in the United States. He is currently planning to use administrative records to develop a major source for surname data in research on ethnic groups.

James K. Skipper, Jr., is Professor of Sociology at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, Greensboro, NC 27412. His research interests include Medical Sociology, Deviant Behavior, and Popular Culture. He is on the Board of Managers of the American Name Society and is a member of the Society for American Baseball Research. His main onomastic interest is the study of nicknames, and he is currently preparing a Dictionary of Baseball Nicknames. He and Paul L. Leslie will be the guest editors of a special issue of Names devoted to nicknames, scheduled for December 1990.

Marion Sonnenfeld, Distinguished Professor of Foreign Languages and Literature, SUNY College at Fredonia, NY 14063, has published numerous articles and translations of German literature. She has just completed a translation of Theodor Fontane's Stechlin.

Georg Søndergaard, Nordisk Institut, Odense Universitet, Campusvej 55, DK-5230 Odense M, Denmark, has been involved in the study of personal names in Denmark since the 1970s. He has published his investigations in a few popular books on different name subjects and in a series of scientific papers on special aspects of Danish personal names.