

---

Contributors

---

Homer Aschmann, Emeritus Professor of Geography, Department of Earth Sciences, University of California, Riverside, CA 92521, has been studying diverse aspects of the geography of Baja California for the last forty-three years.

Timothy S. Brothers, Assistant Professor of Geography, Indiana University, Indianapolis, IN 46202-5140, does research in plant geography, particularly human vegetation alteration. Recent topics of his research include plant invasion of forest islands and survival of prairie remnants in central Indiana.

Thomas J. Gasque, Professor of English, University of South Dakota, Vermillion, SD 57069-2390, has served as editor of Names since 1988. Over the next couple of years he plans to devote his energy to the study of placenames in the Black Hills of South Dakota and Wyoming.

Michel Grimaud, Professor of French, Wellesley College, Wellesley, MA 02181-8201, writes on Victor Hugo, French versification, and interdisciplinary issues in the humanities. He is completing (with Lawrence Baldwin) a History of Street Naming and has published on methodological issues in onomastics. He is associate editor of Names.

Kelsie B. Harder, Professor of English, State University of New York College at Potsdam, Potsdam, NY 13676, a past president of ANS (1982), has also served as executive secretary and editor of Names. At present he is book review editor.

Lisa Kennedy, Geography, Indiana University, Indianapolis, IN 46202-5140, is an undergraduate student with interests in plant geography, especially human vegetation change and spread of crops and weeds. Her plans include graduate training in plant geography.

André Lapierre, Associate Professor of Linguistics, University of Ottawa, Ottawa, Ontario, Canada K1N 6N5, has worked extensively on French placenames in Canada and the United States, and has been active in the Canadian Society for the Study of Names as well as ANS, of which he was the 1991 president.

Abraham D. Lavender, Professor of Sociology and Anthropology, Florida International University, North Miami, FL 33181, specializes in ethnicity and historical sociology, specifically French Huguenots, Jews, and Hispanics—including names. His publications include A Coat of Many Colors: Jewish Subcommunities in the United States, Ethnic Women and Feminist Values, and French Huguenots: From Mediterranean Catholics to White Anglo-Saxon Protestants, plus numerous scholarly articles.

88 Contributors

Breandán Mac Aodha, Professor of Geography, University College, Galway, Ireland, has contributed many articles on Irish and Iberian placenames to Nomina, Ainm, Dinnseanchas, Names, Folk Life, Studia Celtica, and others. He is also a frequent reviewer for Names.

W. F. H. Nicolaisen, Professor of English and Folklore, State University of New York at Binghamton, Binghamton, NY 13902, is executive secretary of the International Committee on Onomastic Sciences (ICOS). He was president of ANS in 1977.

Robert M. Rennick, 588 N. Lake Road, Prestonsburg, KY 41653, is author of Kentucky Place Names (1984), Place Names of Pike Co., Ky. (1991) and many articles on Kentucky and Indiana placenames and placename study methodology.