

Special Onomastics Issue of Midwestern Folklore

Contents

Guest Editor's Introduction .....	Thomas E. Murray
Some Naming Procedures in the Midwest .....	Kelsie B. Harder
The Placenames of Kansas .....	Leonard R. N. Ashley
Lewis and Clark's Onomastic Assumptions .....	Thomas J. Gasque
Native American County Names in Iowa .....	Leonard R. N. Ashley
The Anglicization of Miami and Potawatomi Placenames in the Upper Wabash Valley .....	Rowan Keim Daggett
Some Notes on Missouri's Wealth of Interesting Placenames: Tightwad, Whoopup, Old Dishrag ..	Gerald Leonard Cohen
Names on the Air: The Call Signs of Radio Stations in Northern Illinois .....	Edward Callary
Personal Name Selection as a Geographic Variable in Illinois .....	Timothy C. Frazer
Who's a Hoosier? .....	Ronald L. Baker

Copies of this special issue are $7.00 each, postpaid, and can be ordered from

The Hoosier Folklore Society
Department of English
Indiana State University
Terre Haute, IN 4780

---

Errata

Several errors have been reported in Eric Hamp's article "The Linguistic Evidence of Placenames for History," which appeared in the June, 1995 issue. Among these, Danzat should be Dauzat (p. 131), Restaing should be Rostaing (p. 133), and on page 134, norms should be noms and Guénégand should be Guénégaud.

Also, the reference on page 133 is incorrect; 333 is the citation year rather than the page number. The reference should read (1984, 190). Names regrets the errors.