

Contributors to Volume 46, Number 1

James E. Jacob is Dean of the College of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Professor of Political Science at California State University, Chico 95929. He has lived in France and his major interests are in French politics and society, cross-cultural communication, and terrorism. He is author of The Hills of Conflict: Basque Nationalism in France.

D. Allen Carroll, Head of English at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville 37996-0430, is the editor of Skialetheia, a 1598 collection of satires and epigrams by Everard Guilpin, Greene's Groatsworth of Wit, and compiler (with Gary Williams) of "A Midsummer Night's Dream": An Annotated Bibliography. He has published extensively on complex allusions to names in early modern English literature. email: dcarroll@utk.edu

Pierre L. Horn, Professor of French at Wright State University, Dayton, OH 45435, has written extensively on French literature and civilization, including biographies of Louis XIV and Lafayette. He is advisor for the multivolume Guides to the World's Cinema, being published by Greenwood Press. email: phorn@wright.edu