

Contributors to Volume 46, Number 4

Sergei V. Rjabchikov is an independent scholar living in Krasnodar, Russia. He specializes on the rongorongo script and is also interested in string games and Old Slavonic civilizations. He has published more than 60 items on the Easter Island script and ethnology, some of which are available at: <<http://www.kuban.ru/users/Rjabchikov/index.htm>>. He can be reached at 1/39 Krasnoarmejskaja Street, 350063 Krasnodar, Russia. email: srjabchikov@hotmail.com

Ben Rogers is in the Department of English at the University of Delaware, Newark DE 19717. His major research interests include Antebellum American Literature and British travel narratives. He is the author of several publications on names and naming in the works of Herman Melville. email: brogers@udel.edu

Heidi Vandebosch is a research assistant at the Department of Communication Science, Catholic University of Leuven, E. Van Evenstraat 2A, 3000 Leuven, Belgium. Some of her recent publications in English include "Whether to View or not: that is the Question" and "Television Game Show Viewers: A Cultivated Audience?" She is currently working on an extensive study of the use of mass media by prisoners. email: heidi.vandebosch@soc.kuleuven.ac.be