

Contributors to Volume 47, Number 4

Darrell A. Norris is Professor of Geography at the State University of New York College at Geneseo, NY 14454-1401. He has published widely on the cultural-historical geography of Canada and the United States. His toponymic interests date from high school and undergraduate course coverage of British place names. He is currently working on keyword-based and linguistic analysis of the geographic domains of the World Wide Web. email: norris@uno.cc.geneseo.edu

Thomas E. Murray, Professor of English at Kansas State University, Manhattan, KS 66506-0701, is the author of many essays on aspects of language variation, American English, pedagogy, and onomastics, including major portions of Legal and Ethical Issues in Surreptitious Recording (Publication of the American Dialect Society Number 76) and Under Cover of Law: More on the Legality of Surreptitious Recording (Publication of the American Dialect Society Number 79). He is also a member of the Names editorial board. email: tem@ksu.edu