

Contributors to Volume 50, Number 1

Leonard R. N. Ashley is Professor Emeritus, Brooklyn College of The City University of New York. He was elected president of the American Name Society in 1979 and again in 1987. He is the author of a number of books and scores of articles, ranging from onomastics to the occult to military history to literary criticism. These include What's in a Name?, published by Genealogical in a new, revised edition in 1996.

Nassim W. Balestrini is a member of the English faculty at Johannes Gutenberg University, Mainz, Germany. In addition to her study of Vladimir Nabokov's imagery in his last Russian novel, published by Peter Lang in 1995, she has published several articles on other aspects of Nabokov's oeuvre. Her current research is focused on dramatizations and opera libretti based on narrative texts by Henry James, Washington Irving, and Nathaniel Hawthorne. Surface address: Johannes Gutenberg-Universität, FB 14, English Department, American Studies Division, D-55099 Mainz, Germany. balestri@mail.uni-mainz.de

Maura Hametz is Assistant Professor in the Department of History at Old Dominion University, Norfolk, VA 23529. Her research deals generally with Central Europe in the 20th century, and in particular with Trieste, Italy. She is currently studying naming policies and the historical impact of name alterations in the borderland of northeastern Italy. mhametz@odu.edu

Thomas E. Murray, Professor of English at Kansas State University, Manhattan, KS 66502, teaches courses on the English language and English linguistics. He has published extensively on aspects of American English, language variation, and onomastics. tem@juno.com