As always, the conference is open for everyone to attend. During the gathering, scientific papers on a wide variety of onomastic subjects will be presented. In addition, official reports on the past activities of the American Name Society will be given by the members of the ANS Executive Council. In a special session, selections will be made for the Names of the Year. All members of the ANS are warmly invited to attend this special event. For more information on the conference and all of the activities planned, be sure to consult the official ANS website. The event will be recorded and made available online. The official conference schedule will be posted by November 15, 2022. We look forward to welcoming you!
